Revolutionary Soldiers of Thompson, Connecticut

Developing an accurate list of all Thompson Revolutionary soldiers has been a great challenge. Military records of the 1700s were not always accurate and many that once existed are lost to time. Thompson becoming its own town in 1785, ten years after the Lexington Alarm and two years after the end of the war, has further complicated our research. During the war, Thompson was part of the Town of Killingly and was then known as the North Parish. Locating the actual residence of these soldiers, thus allowing us to separate the Thompson from Killingly soldiers, was difficult.

There were five main sources used for this piece. The first and most important was the Record of Service of Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution. This work was compiled by the authority of the Connecticut State General Assembly, under the direction of the State of Connecticut Adjutants-General's office. The work was completed in 1889 and contains all the known lists of Connecticut Revolutionary soldiers.

The second source was the Charles R. Hale's Collection of Cemetery Inscriptions, 1932-1935. This WPA project lists all the 1726-1934 headstone inscriptions in the Town of Thompson's twenty cemeteries. The report notes the Revolutionary War soldiers.

The third source is the Sons of Union Veterans Memorial Day List of Graves of Soldiers to be Decorated in the Sixteen Cemeteries in the Town of Thompson, Connecticut. This list notes the graves of Thompson veterans to be decorated on Memorial Day. The list may have its roots with the Grand Army of the Republic (GAR), a fraternal organization for Civil War veterans. As the Civil War veterans aged, the Sons of the Union Veterans of the Civil War (SUVCW) was established in 1881 to carry on the legacy of the GAR and to provide assistance for the aging Civil War veterans. It is likely the responsibility for this list was passed from the GAR to the SUVCW. The iteration used for this project was likely compiled between 1919 and 1941, as it contains WWI veterans. The last owner of the list we used was George Whitney.

The fourth source used was Thompson historian Ellen Larned. Her Historic Gleanings of Windham County Connecticut, published in 1899, and History of Windham County published in 1880, notes a number of Thompson Revolutionary War soldiers. While her writing style was anecdotal, time has proven her work to be an accurate representation of our history.

The fifth source used was a booklet produced by the Daughters of the American Revolution for the Dedication of the Revolutionary War Memorial at West Thompson Cemetery titled, Dedication of Memorial Tablet to Revolutionary Soldiers, West Thompson Burying Yard, Thompson, Connecticut. July 4, 1918. This booklet contains the names of 40 Revolutionary War soldiers.

It is the intent of the Thompson Historical Society to keep this project open and active in hopes that over time, through further research, it becomes an accurate record of all the Thompson men who were willing to give their lives for the creation of our great country.
